

Dave Goodman

Communications Lead
ESC and Live Events | EBU

BIOGRAPHY

A former journalist for the BBC and other European public service broadcasters, Dave has been the Communications Lead on the world's largest live music event - the Eurovision Song Contest - since 2019.

The role at the European Broadcasting Union, the world's foremost alliance of public service media, involves leading a team creating content for web and social media, liaising with around 40 participating broadcasters, media relations and working closely with the host broadcaster of the Eurovision Song Contest to effectively communicate around planning for the annual event.

He's followed the Eurovision Song Contest since he was 10 years old, covered 7 Contests as a journalist and worked on 7 for the EBU. Rotterdam 2021 was the 16th Contest he's attended in person. Dave has also done communications for the EBU on Eurovision Young Musicians, Eurovision Young Dancers and 7 editions of the Junior Eurovision Song Contest.
